Due to having a one day week after INSET days following the summer holiday we unfortunately recorded our one and only red week of the year.

Since putting in incentives for the children such as the weekly pop and biscuits reward, tokens, certificates and trips we have seen the children take a vested interest in the attendance of not only themselves but also that of their peers.

The classes display the attendance rankings each week and use this as a benchmark for where their class should be.

We have had a top attendance of 97.9% which the children all know now means we are aiming to hit 98%!!
